

Stilblüten

Beitrag von „Dejana“ vom 11. Oktober 2014 20:32

Wir schreiben Biographien und Autobiographien im Unterricht.

Einer meiner Jungs beginnt seine fiktionale Autobiographie mit:

"I was born the day my mum became a balloon. Three days later, she died because she could not drink water and she kept floating. She was a chef, so I continued her legacy." 🤪👑

Er hat es dann glücklicherweise noch umgeschrieben:

"I was born on the day my mum died trying to give birth to me. Five years later, I found out that she was a chef, so I continued her legacy and I continued making desserts."

Cheerful.

Einer meiner anderen Jungs begann mit:

"Dark confessions have been hiding deep within me until this very day. I've been known to many people as a perfect, famous chef. People called me good when I was actually bad; when I was generous, I was actually selfish. This is the true story of my life, from year to year, throughout my dark times."

Ich frag mich grade, ob ich ne depressive Phase verpasst habe. :weinen: